

Knowledge K11 - Offerings and modalities

Course Summary

An insight into what they are

Introduction

A training offering can be considered in terms of what is being taught, whereas a training modality is the way in which the training is delivered. Many training organisations will provide a training offering on product XYZ, which students can enrol on to suit their preferred learning style; whether that offering is instructor-led or eLearning can then be referred to as a learning modality option.

This module explains in more detail what training offerings and modalities are available or under future consideration within the industry.

Topics

- Delivery Modalities
- Modality Advantages and Disadvantages
- Hands-on considerations
- Emerging modalities
- Personalised options
- Capitalising on modalities
- Next Generation Learning
- Disruptive Leader

Prerequisites

Foundation Series